"Working together to preserve the environment"

Friends undertaking our annual Malleefowl nest survey

If you are interested in preserving our environment for future generations and joining an enthusiastic and dedicated group of volunteers who manage and operate Gluepot Reserve, why not consider joining the “Friends of Gluepot Reserve”.

The Friends of Gluepot is an affiliated group of the Friends of Parks scheme in South Australia. There are many such groups who do voluntary work in Parks each year.

Gluepot Reserve is Australia's largest community managed and operated conservation reserve and is run entirely by volunteers. Situated 64 km from the River Murray in South Australia's Riverland, Gluepot is 54,000 ha. in size, and is home to 18 nationally threatened species of birds, 53 species of reptiles and 12 species of bats, some of which are nationally threatened. There are few areas of the world that support such a concentration of threatened species.

Research and Education

By successfully combining the elements of biodiversity conservation and enhancement through land management, scientific research and monitoring, environmental education and sustainable ecotourism, Gluepot Reserve has taken conservation management into a new era. The Reserve is providing an international model to show that sustainable use of the landscape is achievable. Volunteer involvement and working together is integral to the success of Gluepot Reserve. A highly successful program of this size and complexity is unique in Australian land management.

Collecting and recording data

Weed control

Volunteers are the backbone of the Reserve and come from all states of Australia and overseas.

The Friends of Gluepot welcome people of all ages and nationalities who care about preserving the natural environment. No matter how small, your contribution is important. There is something for everyone!

Friends are especially beneficial because of their experience. They care about nature and are concerned for the type of world that future generations will inherit.

Construction and maintenance of trails and fences
